INTERNSHIP

EMBEDDED SYSTEM AND IOT -NIELIT CALICUT 2025

Developed an IoT-based Attendance Tracker using ESP32 to record and transmit attendance in real time. The system uses a push-button sensor to capture user input and leverages the ESP32's built-in Wi-Fi module for wireless communication. MQTT communication was implemented through the Mosquitto Broker, enabling continuous monitoring and visualization of attendance data on the Adafruit IO platform.

PROJECTS

TRAVELMATE: 2025

Developed TravelMate, a smart tourist guide application designed to assist travelers in exploring new destinations easily. The system provides information about tourist attractions, nearby hotels, restaurants, and important locations, along with map-based navigation for route guidance. It helps users plan trips efficiently by offering location-based suggestions and travel details through a simple and intuitive interface, making travel planning and navigation more convenient for tourists.

SMART BLIND STICK WITH BLUETOOTH AND GOOGLE MAPS INTEGRATION: 2026

Developed a Smart Blind Stick using ESP32 to assist visually impaired individuals in safe navigation. The system uses ultrasonic sensors to detect nearby obstacles and provides real-time alerts through a buzzer or vibration mechanism. It also integrates Bluetooth connectivity to communicate with a mobile application, enabling features such as Google Maps-based navigation and voice guidance for route assistance. The ESP32 microcontroller processes sensor data and manages communication efficiently. The device was designed to be portable, cost-effective, and user-friendly, improving the independence, mobility, and safety of visually impaired users.
